Carmin Wharton is a woman with 30 years of relationship experience. This book is a relationship memoir and everything she shares in this work she actually experienced. Wharton's book sets itself apart because it asserts that life is a classroom and people, circumstances and situations are our teachers. If we don't learn a lesson the first time, we will be presented with another chance to learn.

The characters in Wharton's book run the gamut of the Bad Boy, the Playboy, the Sugar Daddy, the Nut Case and even the Drug Addict. On the surface, the characters may appear to be stereotypical, but Wharton provides each with his own distinct personality as she crafts a masterpiece of women's non-fiction addressing current male-female relationship issues, particularly in the Black community.

Some "lessons" you will learn: The Devil Loves Church Too • Never Recycle Men • Leave Rehabilitation to the Experts

Readers will discover that there are red flags and cues which will indicate that a person is not your perfect mate. Learn: How all relationships (even failed ones) teach you valuable life lessons • How to view what you've learned in relationships as "gifts" • How your history, level of self-esteem and self-worth affect relationship choices

Reader Comments:

It's full of funny (side-splitting at times), gritty and often painful memories that are now being used to help others see what the heart can sometimes ignore. – Ebonee Monique

It was so intriguing; I didn't want to put it down! -- Cynthia Ardis

God's word runs rampant in this work and that will catch the hearts and souls of women seeking love from the ocean floor to the mountain top. -- Beth Taylor

This book is sensational! -- Kathi Nicolosi

About this author: Carmin Wharton independently published this – her first work. Her foundation genre is self-help for women but this particular work is fitting for women and men who seek a committed, long-term relationship. In the upcoming year, she will be publishing another paperback and several e-books. She has a Bachelor's Degree in Sociology and a Master's Degree in Education.
